DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.914

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the, fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 02, 2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U. S. C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ikegami (US Pat 6,674,178).

Ikegami discloses in figs. 6-9 a method of manufacturing a semiconductor device, comprising:

providing a substrate 15 having a first electrode 16 thereon;

dispensing a sealing resin 17 to a region of the substrate 15 that does not include the first electrode 16;

providing a semiconductor chip 11 having a second electrode 13' on a peripheral portion of a front surface of the semiconductor chip 11;

placing the semiconductor chip 11 over the substrate 15 so that the front surface of the semiconductor chip 11 faces the sealing resin 17;

applying a negative pressure (air suction) and a positive pressure (pressing the semiconductor chip 11 with a fixed amount of force) to the whole surface including both the central and peripheral portion of the semiconductor chip 11 (fig. 7 and col. 7, line 63 through col. 8, line 23); and further applying a negative pressure (air suction/pulling) and a positive pressure (pressing the semiconductor chip 11 with a fixed amount of force) to the whole surface including both the central and peripheral portion of the semiconductor chip 11 so that the sealing resin extends in a space between the substrate and the front surface of the semiconductor chip (fig. 8 and col. 8, lines 24-43).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 03/02/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

4. In response to applicant's argument that no part of Ikegami teaches or suggests that a two-step pressure application. Note that Ikegami teaches applying a negative and a positive pressure to the whole surface including both the central and peripheral portion of the semiconductor chip 11 in fig. 7; and further applying a negative and a positive pressure to the whole surface including both the central and peripheral portion of the semiconductor chip 11 in fig. 8. Therefore, Ikegami, as indicated in the above rejection, clearly discloses claimed features.
